

NEW MEXICO'S
BUSINESS WEEKLY
Best
PLACES TO
2010

On Dec. 2, the Business Weekly honored 30 New Mexico companies for creating workplaces that employees rave about. More than 400 attended the paper's Best Places to Work breakfast at the Embassy Suites. The first-place winner in the small company category, for firms with 10 to 25 employees, was Atlas electrical construction. In the medium company category of firms with 26 to 150 employees, Santa Ana Golf Club Inc. took first place. TLC Plumbing and Utility won first place in the large company category, which ranked firms with 151 or more employees. More than 90 companies nominated themselves for Best Places to Work. Rankings were based on the results of employee surveys, for which the Business Weekly partnered with Quantum Workplace, an expert in workplace satisfaction surveys. Quantum gave participating companies a secure website address where their employees could take an anonymous survey about their workplace. Companies could also distribute paper surveys to their employees for a small fee. In order to be eligible to become a finalist, a certain percentage of a company's employees had to complete the survey. The Business Weekly would like to thank Santa Ana Star Casino, the founding sponsor of Best Places to Work.
